

Hand and Footprints for Peace

On a piece of paper draw around your hands or feet.

In one of your hand or footprints write your wish for peace.
In the other hand or footprint write how you can help to make your wish come true.

Have fun making peace!

This exercise was developed as part of the unveiling of the World Peace Pathway in the Peace Garden of Kingsley Hall in Bromley by Bow, East London, in October 2018. This community centre dates back to the work of the peace makers Muriel and Doris Lester and has just celebrated its 90th anniversary. Mahatma Gandhi stayed here in 1931.

The World Peace Pathway project is a joint initiative of the World Peace Flame Foundation and the Week of Prayer for World Peace.

The World Peace Pathway at Kingsley Hall

The Peace Pathway arose from the desire of people from many different faith and cultural traditions to create an artistic focus for peace within London. It is here for all to enjoy and expresses our universal yearning for peace and harmony.

Soil, sand or stones from every country in the world have been placed under the Path. Much of this has come from places of special significance, including Mecca, Mount Arafat, Assisi, Vrindavan, Jerusalem and Machu Picchu. Under the whole structure there is sand from Mahatma Gandhi's ashram in Ahmedabad, India.

At the centre you will see a solar-powered World Peace Flame light, symbolising the healing light of peace shining onto the whole world. The words for peace in many different languages are carved into the outer circle of the Pathway.

Please walk around the world and add your prayers, hopes and wishes for peace.
